Why are you interested in leading this section?

I have personal experience dealing with small insurance companies that are resource-constrained and often face unique challenges and opportunities. Therefore, speaking up for their own concerns and implementing more pertinent conversations to tackle current difficulties would be made easier by being a council member of small insurance firms.

Tom Ciavarella, FSA, MAAA, CERA
Senior Director, Actuary
Lightstone
New York, New York

Professional Background

I had the unique experience of starting my career as a State Regulator. My focus was on product filings and US Statutory valuation and solvency.

I then joined a rotational program at an insurance company where I was able to hone in on my technical skills. My roles were in experience studies, data analytics, and financial reporting. Upon earning my FSA I was able to join the modeling team, where I helped build and maintain internal projection models, valuation models, and cash flow testing models.

I currently work for a small reinsurer, and our target clients are small to mid-size companies. This role has been a fantastic experience where I am able to work closely with the C-suite of both our company, and our clients.

Society of Actuaries Experience (Section and committee memberships and participation)

I am a regular attendee of our local actuarial meetings. I also regularly attend the SOA conferences. We are active participants in LIMRA/LIC.

I recently was able to present on the benefits of reinsurance to small companies.

Other Relevant Volunteer Experience

Why are you interested in leading this section?

Working as a reinsurer to small clients puts me in the unique position of seeing multiple aspects of the challenges Small Companies face. It has been an amazing experience for me to become part of the community.

I have a strong understanding of the capital constraints, staffing struggles, and administration setbacks that small companies can face.

This is a great opportunity to continue to work with other small companies and share what I have learned in my past experiences.
